

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS AND OTHER PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL IN NEWSPAPERS

The following General Terms and Conditions (hereinafter referred to as the 'GTCs') govern the relationship between the Marketer and the Customer with respect to issuing and processing advertising orders for newspapers distributed by the Marketer, including mobile and tablet PC applications ('apps') and e-papers based on these newspapers that can be read offline (hereinafter jointly referred to as the 'newspapers'), provided there is no other written agreement to the contrary. The Customer may access, print, download or save these GTCs at any time at www.mediaimpact.de/en/agb.

1. Definitions

1.1 An 'offer' pursuant to these GTCs is the Marketer's offer to publish one or more advertisements in online and print newspapers for the purpose of dissemination. Where not expressly designated as a binding offer, the Marketer's offers remain subject to change without notice, i.e. they are non-binding, and shall be subject to availability of the services offered.

1.2 'Advertising order' pursuant to these GTCs is a Customer's offer to publish one or more advertisements or other promotional materials (hereinafter referred to jointly as 'advertisements') on behalf of an Advertiser or other party purchasing advertising space (hereinafter referred to jointly as 'Advertisers') in a newspaper for the purpose of dissemination. The Customer may be an agency or an advertiser.

1.3 An 'Agreement' is a contract concerning the publication of multiple advertisements, taking into account the discount to be granted to the Customer pursuant to the price list, whereby the respective advertisements are published at the Customer's request. If an agreement includes the right to request publication of individual advertisements, the publication of the last advertisement must occur within one year of publication of the first advertisement (hereinafter referred to as the 'publication year'), provided there is no express agreement to the contrary in individual cases.

1.4 'Marketer' refers to Media Impact GmbH & Co. KG for all newspapers marketed by it, even if such newspapers are published by third parties. With respect to the marketing of B.Z. and/or BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG by B.Z. Ullstein GmbH, the latter shall take the place of Media Impact GmbH & Co. KG.

2. Conclusion of contract

2.1 Provided there is no express individual agreement to the contrary, a contract for an advertising order shall be concluded when the advertisement is printed (in the case of multiple advertisements, this refers to the first advertisement) or on written confirmation from the Marketer. If the Marketer provides a binding offer, the contract shall be concluded when the Customer accepts the offer.

2.2 If agencies issue advertising orders, the contract shall be concluded with the agency, subject to any other written agreements. The agency shall, upon request and before conclusion of the contract, be obligated to provide the Marketer with proof of its commercial licence by submitting an extract from the Commercial Register as well as proof of mandate.

2.3 Advertising orders from advertising and media agencies shall only be accepted for advertisers that are explicitly specified by name. An advertisement for the products or services of a party other than the advertiser specified in the order requires the Marketer's prior written consent in all cases.

2.4 If the Marketer has third-party market orders or agreements, the third party shall act as the Marketer's representative and on its behalf.

2.5 If agency commissions are not excluded, an agency fee of 15% of the net invoice amount shall be paid on all orders issued by an advertising agency recognised by the Marketer, i.e. on the invoice amount excluding value added tax and after deduction of any discounts. The fee excludes set-up fees, technical costs and remuneration for creative services.

2.6 Any amendments of and additions to contracts and deviations from these GTCs must be made in writing. For contract amendments and additions, this also applies to cancellation of this written form clause.

2.7 In the case of orders submitted by agencies, the Marketer reserves the right to forward the order confirmation to the agency's customer.

3. Publication of advertisements

3.1 If advertisements are only to be published on certain dates or in certain parts of the newspaper, this requires express agreement with the Marketer. The orders for these advertisements must be submitted to the Marketer early enough that the Customer can be informed before the closing date if the order cannot be carried out as requested. Classified advertisements are printed in the relevant category without the need for a specific agreement.

3.2 For the publication of advertisements in digital issues of newspapers, the Marketer shall be entitled to adapt the copy submitted for publication in print issues as needed. The appearance of an advertisement in a digital issue may differ from its appearance in a print issue. To prevent this discrepancy, the Customer may request that the Marketer use certain specifications for the publication of an advertisement that has already been adapted for the digital issue. For the publication of advertisements in digital issues of newspapers, the advertisement is scaled to the size of a page in the digital issue in proportion to the size of a page in the print issue. In addition, the placement of the advertisement in the printed issue shall be equivalent to the placement in the digital issues.

3.3 If no special size requirements are indicated, the standard font size of the printed issue, based on the type of advertisement, shall be used as the basis for calculation.

3.4 Exclusion of competing advertisements is generally not granted.

3.5 The Marketer distributes supplements with the due diligence required in business; the customary level of erroneous deliveries or losses in the industry is up to 3%.

3.6 Orders for split-run advertisements (publication of an advertisement in anything less than the full print run of the publication) are subject to the Marketer's right to postpone publication until a later issue.

4. Customer's obligations and Marketer's right of refusal

4.1 The Customer is responsible for ensuring that the contents it provides, particularly its advertisements, are designed in such a way that they do not breach statutory provisions and in particular so that they comply with the provisions set down in the German Youth Protection Act, the German Press Act, the German Competition Act, the German Trademark Act, the German Copyright Act, the German Pharmaceutical Advertising Act, the German Data Protection Act, the German Criminal Code and the German Media Services Act. In the event of a culpable breach of clause 1, the Customer shall indemnify the Marketer for any and all costs incurred by the Marketer as a result of such breach, including the costs for legal defence, in full and on its first request to do so. The Marketer has no obligation to review the advertisements before publication.

4.2 The Marketer reserves the right to refuse to publish advertisements or other promotional materials, particularly if

- their content breaches laws or regulatory provisions, or
- an objection to their content has been lodged by the German Advertising Standards Council in complaint proceedings, or
- their publication would harm the rights of third parties or the Marketer's interests because of their content, design, origin or technical form, or
- other promotional materials (particularly supplements, inserts, etc.) cannot be attached to or inserted in the title for technical reasons. Rejection of an advertisement or other promotional material shall be communicated to the Customer immediately. The Marketer has the right to reject advertisements whose design resembles the design of the newspaper in which they are to appear in order to preserve its journalistic integrity. Advertisements that are designed to look like newspaper articles must feature a font other than the newspaper's standard font and be marked with the word 'Advertisement'. Advertisements that do not appear to be advertisements because of their format must be clearly marked as such by the Marketer with the word 'Advertisement'.

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS AND OTHER PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL IN NEWSPAPERS

4.3 Promotional materials that contain advertising by or for third parties (tie-in advertising) require the prior written consent of the Marketer in all cases. The advertisers must be specified by name. The Marketer reserves the right to charge a tie-in premium or to offer a different discount.

4.4 If the Customer has been or is warned about the content of an advertisement or if it has entered into or enters into a legally binding obligation to refrain from using certain content, the Customer must inform the Marketer to this effect immediately. If the Customer fails to abide by this obligation, the Marketer shall not be liable for the damage caused by the Customer as a result of the repeated publication of the advertising (content) that is subject to complaint.

5. Transmission of documents for publication

5.1 The Customer is responsible for providing the Marketer with copies of advertisements in the proper form, particularly with respect to the Marketer's format or technical specifications for creation and transmission of print materials (also see the information on technical requirements and the transmission of print materials in the respective price list) in good time before the deadline for submission of print materials as indicated in the respective price list and to mark these templates adequately for use by the Marketer. For publishing in digital issues, a copy that meets the Marketer's technical specifications for creation and transmission of on-line advertising must be provided. If defects in the Customer's print materials are not immediately recognisable, the Customer shall have no claims for inadequate printing. Undesired printing results caused by the Customer deviating from the Marketer's recommendations do not justify claims for price reduction. The same shall apply to errors in repeated advertisements if the Customer does not point out the error before the next advertisement is printed. The Marketer is not obligated to review the print materials for completeness and accuracy.

5.2 The Customer must pay the costs incurred by the Marketer for changes to copy requested or caused by the Customer. In the event of difficult typesetting work that requires greater effort than usual, the Marketer reserves the right to invoice any such additional work accordingly. It is agreed that the advertisement shall be of a quality that is customary for advertisements in the title in which it is to appear in accordance with the information in the price list and in the order confirmation based on the copy that is submitted and the technology used by the printer.

5.3 The Customer must ensure that digital files that contain the advertising copy are free from computer viruses before they are sent. In particular, the Customer is obligated to use commercially available anti-virus programs that meet the latest technical standards at all times. If the Marketer discovers a harmful element as described above in a file sent to it, the Marketer shall refrain from using this file and, if necessary to prevent or limit damage (in particular, to prevent the harmful element from entering the Marketer's IT equipment), delete it; the Customer shall not be entitled to assert a claim for damages in this case. The Marketer reserves the right to assert claims for damages against the Customer if a harmful element infiltrates its systems because of actions by the Customer that result in the Marketer incurring damage or loss.

5.4 If an order is not carried out or it is carried out incorrectly because the Customer breaches its duties of cooperation, particularly if it does not submit a production copy on time or if the copy is incomplete and/or defective or if it has been labelled incorrectly or deleted as defined in para. 5.3, the Marketer shall still be entitled to the agreed remuneration.

5.5 A copy for colour advertisements that is transmitted digitally can only be processed reliably if there is a hard-copy colour proof. Colour deviations are inevitable if there is no colour proof; such deviations shall not constitute grounds for claims to a price reduction.

5.6 Irrespective of the submission of digital copy, a written order that contains information about the content of the advertisement must be issued. Delivery of the copy alone does not constitute an issued order.

5.7 Copy shall only be returned at the Customer's express request. The obligation to retain the copy shall end one month after the initial publication of the advertisement or other promotional materials.

6. Defects

6.1 If the published advertisement does not meet the contractually agreed level of quality or service, the Customer shall be entitled to make a reduced payment or to a replacement advertisement free of defects, but only to the extent that the purpose of the advertisement has been affected. The Marketer has the right to refuse to offer a replacement advertisement or republication if General terms and conditions for newspapers (a) doing so would require a level of effort that is grossly disproportionate to the Customer's performance interest in view of the content of the contractual obligations and the principles of good faith, or (b) the Marketer would only be able to do so at a disproportionately high expense. If the Marketer allows the legally stipulated deadline for publication of a replacement advertisement or other promotional materials to lapse or if the replacement advertisement/republication once again contains errors, the Customer shall be entitled to a discount or to cancel the order. If the defects in the advertisement or other promotional materials are minor, the Customer shall not have the right to cancel the order.

6.2 The Customer shall review the ad immediately after publication. The claims for defects must be asserted with the Marketer immediately after publication, unless said defects are not obvious, in which case the deadline shall be six months.

6.3 The Marketer shall be liable for all damages, irrespective of whether they arise from breach of contractual obligation or from tort liability, pursuant to the following provisions:

(a) In the case of gross negligence, liability to commercial entities shall be limited to compensation for customary and foreseeable damage and loss; this limitation shall not apply if the damage and loss is caused by the Marketer's legal representatives or senior staff.

(b) In the case of simple negligence, the Marketer shall only be liable if a material contractual obligation has been breached, a warranty has been provided or there has been fraudulent misrepresentation. Liability in such cases is limited to customary and foreseeable damage and loss. In the case of liability for damage and loss that is not customary and foreseeable, there shall be no liability for indirect damage and loss, consequential damage and loss, or lost profits.

6.4 All claims asserted against the Marketer as a result of a breach of contractual obligation shall lapse within one year from commencement of the statutory period of limitation, provided such claims do not arise from intentional or grossly negligent conduct or involve injury to life, limb or health; in such cases, the period of limitation shall be based on the statutory provisions.

6.5 For claims asserted based on the German Product Liability Act and in the event of injury to life, limb or health, the Marketer shall have unlimited liability in accordance with the statutory provisions.

7. Proofs

Proofs shall only be provided at the Customer's express request. The Marketer shall correct all errors of which it is advised before the closing date or by the deadline set when the proofs are sent to the Customer. Proofs for digital issues shall be sent in PDF format.

8. Payments

8.1 The invoice must be paid by the deadline specified in the invoice, provided there is no written agreement to the contrary in individual cases. Any discounts granted for early payment shall be based on the price list. The Marketer reserves the right in justified cases (such as a new business relationship) to demand advance payment before the closing date. If it has been agreed that the direct debit method shall be used to pay invoices, the Marketer shall be obligated to inform the Customer of the amount and date of the debit in advance. This pre-notification must be given at least one business day prior to the account debit. Invoices are generally sent electronically. On request, the Marketer shall send a printed invoice by post; the Marketer reserves the right to demand a separate invoice for this.

8.2 The Customer may only offset the Marketer's claims with uncontested or legally established claims. The Customer shall only be entitled to exercise the right of retention if the counter-claim is uncontested or legally established and it is based on the same contractual relationship.

8.3 The Marketer may suspend the further execution of an ongoing advertising order or agreement until payment is received and may demand advance payment for the remaining advertisements.

8.4 If there is justified cause to doubt the Customer's ability to pay, the Marketer shall be entitled to make the publication of further advertisements contingent on advance payment of the amount due prior to the closing date as well as payment of any outstanding amounts, and it may do so during the term of the contract and irrespective of any payment terms that have been originally agreed.

9. Specimen copy

Upon request, the Marketer shall provide a specimen copy (screenshot) for advertisements and other promotional materials; the Marketer reserves the right to demand separate effort-based remuneration for this. If the Marketer is no longer able to provide a specimen copy, it may instead provide legally binding certification that the advertisement has been published and disseminated. Specimen copies cannot be provided for classified advertisements.

10. Decrease in circulation

10.1 Pursuant to clause 2, a decrease in circulation shall only justify a price reduction for agreements if the total average circulation of the publication year commencing with the first advertisement falls below the guaranteed circulation level. A decrease in circulation shall only be construed as a defect justifying a price reduction if and to the extent that the decrease in guaranteed paid circulation of up to 50,000 copies is at least 20%, the decrease in guaranteed paid circulation of up to 100,000 copies is at least 15%, the decrease in guaranteed paid circulation of more than 100,000 copies is at least 10%. A decrease in circulation for the reasons specified in para. 16 shall not entitle the Customer to a price reduction. Only the guaranteed circulations expressly designated as such in price lists or those agreed in individual contracts shall be deemed guaranteed circulations. Decreases in circulation are calculated as the net difference between the number of copies above and below the specified circulation within the year of publication. Claims for a price reduction must be asserted within six months of the year of publication ending. The price reduction shall be given on the net amount due from the Customer, taking into account any agency remuneration that has already been granted as a credit in kind or, if this is no longer possible, as a monetary refund. The Customer shall only be entitled to a refund if the refund amount is at least EUR 2,500. Claims to price reductions shall be excluded in cases where the Marketer duly notifies the Customer of a decrease in circulation, allowing the Customer to rescind the order or agreement before publication of the advertisement.

10.2 A claim to a price reduction is dependent on a rebatable contract based on the price list.

11. Box number advertisements

With respect to box number advertisements, the Marketer exercises due diligence when storing and forwarding incoming mail. Registered letters and express letters in response to box number advertisements are forwarded exclusively by regular mail. Other items received in response to box number advertisements shall be kept for four weeks. Letters that are not collected before the end of this period shall be destroyed. An individual agreement may be reached to grant the Marketer the right to open incoming mail on behalf of and in the stated interest of the Customer. Letters that exceed the permitted DIN A4 format (weight of 50 g) as well as any goods, books, catalogues and parcels that are received are excluded from forwarding and shall not be accepted.

12. Price lists

12.1 Prices are always exclusive of the applicable statutory value added tax; this applies in particular to prices specified in advertising orders and price lists.

12.2 If the price list for a title refers to text millimetre lines, when calculating the quantity purchased text millimetre lines shall be converted into advertising millimetres in line with the price.

12.3 The Marketer shall be entitled to change prices at any time with effect for the future. Price changes for advertising contracts shall be effective if they are announced by the Marketer at least one month before the advertisement is to be published; in this case, the Customer shall be entitled to a right of withdrawal. The right of withdrawal must be exercised in writing within 14 days of receipt of the notice of change regarding the price increase. The right of withdrawal shall not apply to orders processed as part of a long-term obligation. In this case, changes to the price list are effective immediately unless agreed otherwise.

12.4 'Next-to-matter' advertisements pursuant to the price lists are advertisements which border on text on at least three sides and are not placed next to other advertisements.

12.5 Inasmuch as the Customer and the Marketer have agreed on individual conditions excluding the price list, no price list discounts will be applicable.

13. Affiliated companies

If a joint discount applies to affiliated companies, written proof of the advertiser's group status is required. Affiliated companies pursuant to this provision are companies between which there is an equity interest of at least 50%. For joint stock companies, proof of group status must be provided by submitting confirmation from an auditor or by submitting the last annual report; for partnerships, such proof may be provided by submitting an extract from the Commercial Register on the Marketer's request. The group discount must be asserted when the contract is concluded at the latest. Subsequent assertion of discounts shall not be recognised retrospectively. Group discounts offered outside of the price list require express written confirmation from the Marketer in all cases. Group discounts are only granted for as long as the entity is part of the group. The end of the group affiliation must be reported to the Marketer immediately; when the group affiliation ends, the group discount shall end as well.

14. Transfer and warranty of rights

14.1 The Customer is responsible for ensuring that the copy it provides does not breach the rights of third parties. It declares that it is the owner of all rights of use and exploitation required for publication online and in print of the copy it provides and that it is entitled to dispose of these rights. If the Marketer creates the advertisement, the Customer also declares that it owns all of the rights necessary for the creation of the advertisement. In this respect, it shall indemnify the Marketer against all claims by third parties on first request. This includes expenses for legal defence. The Customer shall be obligated to support the Marketer in its legal defence against third parties by providing it with information and documents.

14.2 The Customer assigns the Marketer a non-exclusive copyright, ancillary copyright, trademark right and any other rights to the copy that may be necessary to produce and publish the advertisement in print, online and in all types of electronic media, including the internet, particularly the right to reproduce, distribute, transmit and broadcast the copy, to make the copy available to the public, to retrieve the copy from a database and to access whatever copy may be necessary and for as long as may be necessary to carry out the order. The Marketer also receives the right to self-promotion of the Marketer and the respective items for an unlimited period of time. In all cases, the above-mentioned rights are transferred without spatial limitation and may be transferred to third parties.

14.3 Any concepts and elements that the Marketer's offers are based on are protected by copyright and competition law and must be treated confidentially by the Customer. In particular, these concepts may not be shared in their original or modified form with third parties or used by the Customer outside the scope of the contract for its own purposes.

14.4 If a graphic or otherwise the name, logo, company symbol, mark, work title or other business designation is used in connection with the advertisement, the Customer shall grant the Marketer a non-exclusive and non-transferrable right to use the graphic or corresponding mark or symbol in the respective advertisement for the duration of the contract.

14.5 Advertising motifs (promotions) designed for the Customer by the Marketer may only be used for advertisements in the titles/issues booked with the Marketer. No other rights are granted.

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS AND OTHER PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL IN NEWSPAPERS

15. Term

15.1 The contract shall end on expiry of the agreed contract term.

15.2 The right to extraordinary termination of the contract for due cause after giving prior warning remains unaffected by this. The termination must be carried out in writing. In particular, a right to immediate termination for due cause shall exist if, despite written warning, one of the Parties repeatedly breaches material contractual obligations, fails to remedy ongoing contractual breaches within a reasonable period of time or fails to remedy the consequences of such breach, or if a warning and/or an injunction has been issued to or against one and/or both Parties and/or a newspaper published by the Marketer as a result of a contractual service, or the Marketer has reasonable grounds to believe that the Customer and/or the content it provides breach applicable statutory provisions, particularly the German Criminal Code or applicable advertising regulations; reasonable grounds shall be said to exist if the Marketer has evidence of a breach of statutory provisions, particularly as a result of the initiation of a preliminary investigation against the Marketer, the Customer and/or the newspapers distributed by the Marketer or following a request for an official comment by the competent authorities. Grounds for immediate termination shall also exist if enforcement measures are initiated against one of the Contractual Parties and such measures are not cancelled within one month.

16. Disruptions to the contractual relationship caused by force majeure

In the event of business disruption or cases of force majeure, labour disputes, confiscation, traffic congestion, general shortages of raw materials or energy, etc. – both on the Marketer's premises and on the premises of third parties used by the Marketer to fulfil its obligations – the Marketer shall be entitled to full payment for the published advertisements if the title has been delivered by the Marketer at a rate of 80% of the average circulation sold or otherwise guaranteed over the previous four quarters. In the event of lower rates of delivery, the invoice amount shall be reduced in the same proportion as the guaranteed circulation to the circulation that was actually delivered. The Marketer reserves the right to postpone publication deadlines if current events make doing so necessary. Such postponement does not give the Customer the right to make claims against the Marketer.

17. Involvement of third parties

The Customer requires the prior written consent of the Marketer in order to transfer some or all of its rights and obligations arising from the advertising order. The Marketer shall be authorised to use the services of third parties in order to fulfil its obligations arising from the advertising order.

18. Data protection

The Customer undertakes to comply with the applicable statutory provisions regarding data protection, particularly the provisions set down in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the German Data Protection Act (BDSG). The Customer shall obligate its employees as well as its agents and their employees to comply with these provisions as well.

19. Order cancellations before commencement of provision of service

19.1 The Customer may cancel contracts after they have come into effect. Cancellations of contracts must be made in writing and addressed to the Customer's contact person in the Marketer's office. The Marketer grants cancellation free of charge according to the cancellation period stipulated in the respective price list. The Marketer's receipt of the written cancellation shall be used to determine the date of the cancellation. If cancellation does not occur within this period, the Customer must pay 100% of the net order value, plus VAT.

For the booking of cooperation advertising formats, such as cross-media packages, competitions, influencer campaigns or content integration, a cancellation up to six weeks before the start of publication is possible. If this period is not adhered to, the Customer must pay 30% of the net order value (gross order value less VAT at the statutory rate) plus VAT at the statutory rate due on this amount as a cancellation fee. Once the service has commenced, a cancellation is excluded. Technical costs and costs for creative services for the booking which are incurred up to the point of cancellation shall be invoiced to the Customer in full.

20. Confidentiality and the press

20.1 Provided there is no written agreement to the contrary, the Contractual Parties shall treat as strictly confidential the details of the contractual relationship, particularly its prices and terms and conditions, as well as any business secrets of which they become aware from the other Contractual Party, either directly or indirectly, as a result of the implementation of the contract. The foregoing provision shall not apply if there is a court or official order to disclose such details or if disclosure is necessary for legal enforcement of one Contractual Party's rights against the other. The Marketer shall also be entitled to disclose the content of the advertising order to engaged third parties pursuant to para. 16 and affiliated companies pursuant to Section 15 et seq. of the German Stock Corporation Act. This obligation shall be valid for the entire term of the contract and for an unlimited period after it has been terminated.

20.2 The Marketer shall be allowed to make known the gross advertising revenue from the Customer and advertisers at the product level to Nielsen Media Research or similar institutions for publication.

20.3 Press statements and other public declarations to third parties about the business relationship between the Marketer and the Customer or regarding the details of any agreements that have been made require the prior approval of the Marketer. This also applies to the publication of logos supplied by the Marketer.

21. Final provisions

21.1 Any additional business terms and conditions contained in the price list shall apply in addition to these General Terms and Conditions.

21.2 The Customer shall be notified of amendments to these GTCs in writing and at www.media-impact.de/en/agb. They shall be regarded as accepted by the Customer if it does not object to them in writing within one month of notification.

21.3 The Customer's general contractual or business terms and conditions are hereby expressly excluded. This shall also apply even if the Marketer has not expressly objected to the Customer's terms and conditions and/or the Marketer provides services without objecting to the Customer's terms and conditions, i.e. it publishes advertising online and in print without objection.

21.4 The place of performance is the Marketer's head office. German law applies to the exclusion of the UN Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods.

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS AND OTHER PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL IN NEWSPAPERS

Additional terms and conditions for BILD and BILD am SONNTAG

- a) Advertisements scheduled for publication in the full run of a newspaper take precedence over advertisements in split runs (a run is considered to be a split run if the total number of issues is below that of the full run), even if such advertisements are subsequently discontinued. Advertisements in split runs may be postponed for the above-mentioned reasons.
- b) For technical reasons, advertisements scheduled for publication on certain pages in the DEUTSCHLAND-GESAMT (full national) edition of a newspaper shall be placed where there is space available in split runs (regional editions).
- c) Customers who do not wish to place advertisements in individual regional editions of newspapers that have larger booking units are excluded from price discounts due to the technical difficulties involved.
- d) The maximum height of display advertisements in BILD is 420 mm. Advertisements larger than 420 mm shall be cropped at the height of the type area and the width calculated based on the number of columns.
- e) Advertisements in BILD am SONNTAG are calculated based on side frames, irrespective of the actual print height.

Additional terms and conditions for B.Z., B.Z. am Sonntag, BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG and for combined editions of BILD/B.Z. BERLIN/BRANDENBURG-GESAMT

- a) Advertisements that occupy part of a page or the corner of a page in B.Z. and B.Z. am Sonntag that are more than 310 mm high are calculated based on the full height of the type area (369 mm).
- b) For advertisements published in B.Z./B.Z. am Sonntag, the service – the publication of the advertisements in B.Z./B.Z. am Sonntag – is provided by B.Z. Ullstein GmbH and the invoicing is carried out by Axel Springer SE.
- c) For advertisements published in BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG, both the service – the publication of the advertisements in BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG – and the invoicing are carried out by Axel Springer SE.
- d) For advertisements published in the Deutschland-Gesamt edition (full national run), both the service – the publication of the advertisements in BILD and B.Z. – and the invoicing are carried out by Axel Springer SE.
- e) For advertisements published in the booking unit B.Z./B.Z. am Sonntag with BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG, the following applies: If the Customer's Contractual Partner is Axel Springer SE, both the service – the publication of the advertisements in the booking unit B.Z./B.Z. am Sonntag with BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG – and the invoicing are carried out by Axel Springer SE. If the Customer's Contractual Partner is B.Z. Ullstein GmbH, the service – the publication of the advertisements in the booking unit B.Z./B.Z. am Sonntag with BILD BERLIN-BRANDENBURG – is carried out by B.Z. Ullstein GmbH and the invoicing is carried out by Axel Springer SE.

Additional terms and conditions for DIE WELT and WELT am SONNTAG/WELT am SONNTAG KOMPAKT

Booking space in split runs and other special printing options requires a separate agreement for the relevant edition or combined edition. If there is also an order for a full run, the quantity ordered for the full run shall be added to the split run for the purposes of calculating the discount.
